NLA Speaks Out on Transportation Network Companies

On August 20 the National Limousine Association, of which the Limousine Associations of New Jersey is a member, published its position on issues related to the proliferation of transportation network companies. In the comprehensive document's summary statement, the NLA says it "believes that the underlying purposes for regulating the passenger transportation industry should be applied in the public interests to all operators of public transportation. This includes transportation network companies (TNCs)...(and) the NLA is opposed to treating TNCs as if they are outside of the traditional passenger transportation industry and thus exempt from having to comply with legal and insurance requirements that are designed to protect passengers and the public." LANJ encourages you to see the first "News" item on www.limo.org and read the NLA position paper in its entirety.
