Critical New Labor Law Decision Means Good News for Operators

According to an article published in the December 2018 issue of Chauffeur Driven, "A September court decision effectively eliminated chauffeurs' ability to make overtime claims against companies in three Northeast states."

Written by Roberta Pike, partner at Pike, Tuch & Cohen Law Firm in Bellmore, N.Y., "Second Circuit Slams the Brakes on Wage and Hour Claims"* details the significance of the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit ruling for transportation companies operating within New York, Connecticut and Vermont and suggests that its effect could be felt "in the appellate and district courts of other Federal Circuits as well" and, accordingly, "should come as very welcome news for ground transportation operators nationwide."
